COMMENT OF THE DAY

MEMOIRS difficult for his generals to win the war? Twelve yours after final victory, in the year of the space satellite and the intercontinental missile, that question about

Churchill's role in the war was raised by Sir Arthur Bryant when he published his version of the Alanbrooke diaries. It is raised again, more bluntly, by Alanbrooke's chief war aid Major-General Sir John

Kennedy whose memoirs, "The Business of War", are just out. While it is a good and necessary part of "historical digestion" that war time adulation should be tempered by the singing of the Dismay And songs of the critics - it does seem as if the business of writing up one's memoirs at a time when they ought

SENSELESS

Many of the British businessdescribe the present emburgo as "senseless" and even absurd.

They point out that Britain is now buying from countries beyond the Iron Curtain goods that are on her forbidden list. For instance, a shipbuilding firm at Renfrew, near Glasgow, has for some time been using a machine tool weighing over a hundred tons that was imported from Czechoslovakia for boring heavy plates, But b similar machine made in Britain cannot be sold to Czechoslovakia or any other Communist country. Apart from strategic goods, the Chinese are chiefly interested in electric and road transport equipment. They have already installed an automobile works at Changehun with Soviet technical assistance, but consider it would be to their advantage to get to know Western techniques as well.

Mr Kuo Li, chief engineer at these works, was favourably impressed with some aspects of British construction methods. He has been to Rolls Royce, Standard Motors, David Brown Corporation, especially to see tractors and

THE FIGHTING MAYNARDS

The four boxing Maynard brothers, who have a family record of five London Federation titles in eight aftempts, will appear logether on the same programme for the first time on November 28, when they are to be members of the first London team to compete in the Dock Labour Board's national tournament at Liverpool.

They belong to a family which has been associated with the Thames for more than 300 years.

Three of them are following their father. Mr Ted Maynard, as lightermen. George is an apprentice wood machinist. The Liverpool tournament may be the last time they box on the same bill, for Ray is a cricket enthusiast and Tony wants to take up rowing and, perhaps, add a Doggett's Coat and Badge to the family's trophics.-Reuterphoto.

More Empire Games Competitors

Three more acceptance, have been received for the Empire Games in Wales next year. They are from Fiji, the Isle of Man and Jersey. It is expected that Mr R. M. N. Tisdall, winner of the 1932 Olympic Games 400 Metres Hurdles, will be present, He is now President of Tanganyika AAA.

Are There Too Many Mid-Week Floodlit Soccer Fixtures?

Asks TOM FINNEY

Whether Everton and Liverpool are hitting the headlines or not, there is no doubt at all that the Liverpool soccer fans are always in the news.

When Everton came to Preston a squad of their 'teen-age supporters poured on to the pitch before the match. They "pinched" the ball Preston were practising with, they shook every player they could reach by the hand, and when Everton scored they rushed on to the pitch to shake Jimmy Harris by the hand and pat him on to the back.

Frankly I had never seen this happen at a football match in this country before!

Now West Bromwich players complain they were roughly handled by a 1 Mile.—Blue Train (147), Gay crowd of bystanders outside the Goodison Park after their game with Everton. Indeed two West Brom men. Derek Kevan and Bonus (147), Pretender (147), Maurice Setters, allege they were kicked.

KRAMER'S TROUPE ARRIVING ON NOVEMBER

Will Go Into Action Immediately: Running Commentary By Big

Jack Kramer and his team of world champions arrive here from Bangkok on the morning of Tuesday, November 19 on their whirlwind tour of the Orient and go into action the same afternoon, starting at 2.30 o'clock, at the Hongkong Cricket Club.

the opening day's two singles matches, Kramer will play Pancho Segura in the opener and dynamic Lew Hoad meets stylist Ken Rosewall in the main attraction. Hoad will team up with Rosewall to take on Kramer and Segura in the doubles. All three matches promise to produce power tennis, the kind of which the "four musketeers" of the net pro world are noted for.
